"Our Boys."

A very fair audience greeted the sec-ond appearance of the Bishop com-pany last night, in the amusing com-edy of "Our Boys." The play abounds pany last night, in the amusing comsedy of "Our Boys." The play abounds in happy situations and pleasant surprises, and is very enjoyable. Of course, Mr. C. B. Bishop was the central figure, and he captured the ristibles and, hence, the hearts of his auditors. The performance was more than good, and Miss Emma Pierce and Messrs. Eberle and Chas, I. Bishop deserve especial mention. C. B. Bishop is a fine comedian, and there can be no question that his performances have given more general satisfaction than any yet given this season. The company was compelled to combat some unpleasant recollections, among play-goers, of companies which had preceded this one, or there would have been an audience much larger in number both Wednesday and Thursday—but there could not have been one better pleased. The foundation has been faid by Mr. Bishop for an enduring popularity in Fort Worth, which will demonstrate itself when next he visits this city. The GAZETTE heartily commends him to the people of the state before whom he is yet to appear.

Something of the Crime Which They Ex-

plated at the Hands of the Mob Six Years After its Commission. The readers of the GAZETTE The readers of the GAZITTE have fresh in their minds the jail delivery at Comanche last Sunday night and the hanging of the Balley boys. The crime which 'hey committed seven years ago, and for which they became victims of the mob's vengence after so long a time, may not be so well re membered. J. J. Marion, who was in membered. J. J. Marion, who was interested in their casture for personal reasons, showed the GAZETE man two warrants, sworn out just after the killing, and carried with him all this time. In March 1877, these two boys came into the town and bought various trifles amounting in all to about 49, paying for them in counterfeit money. Each was armed with a Winchester rifle and a revolver. About half an hour after they left it was discovered that the money they About half an hour after they left it was discovered that the money they had paid for their purchases was countered. however, as soon as we arrived; and our competitors, seeing the success we were achieving, came tumbling into line so rapidly that announcements of "ten per cent. reductions," and "Why is It?" and What is It?" are now deemed common. We have a style of advertising peculiar to oursives, and all attempts to imitate us are in vain. What is more, we advertise FACTS only. But to the point: This week we are offering for sale, at great reductions, a choice and well selected stock of Boys' and Youths' Shirts and Children's Waists. We have these goods in an incalculable variety of styles, and the prices asked are bound to sell the goods. This something worth remembering, but at the same time we want you to remember also that our stock of Clothing is unequaled in Fort Worth for style and prices These are all-wool suits you read about at $7.50; we will duplicate ten per on We are noted for square dealing--remember that, also.

an Ohio Man.

Newark, O., November 10.—About thirty-five years ago there lived in Barnesville, this state, a family named Anderson, consisting of husband, wife and four or five children, the youngest being about four years. The husbeing about four years. The hus-band concluded to leave for the far West and seek fartune in the gold-fields of the Rockies. He went, and for several years uninterrupted communication was kept up and remittances made to those left behind for support, but suddenly all communication ceased, and denly all communication ceased, and death was supposed to have been the cause. As time passed on and no tidings of the husband caure, Mrs. Anderson procured a divorce and became the wife of another. Mr. Anderson, being unable to get any tidings from his family, dreaded to return to the states. The years dragged on, and a few days since an elderly, well-preserved gentleman appeared at the residence of Mr. Thomas Anderson in the East and and inquired: "Does Thomas Anderson live here." He was derson live here?" He was answered by Mrs. Anderson in the affirmative, and he then asked for Mr. Anderson and was informed that he was up stairs askep. The old gentleman hastened up to Mr. Anderson's room, fell on the neck of the last and the stairs and this count of the last and the stairs are stairs and the stairs and the stairs and the stairs are stairs as a stair and the stair son's room, fell on the neck of the sleeper, and kissed and embraced him, making demonstrations indicative of the greatest delight. This awoke the sleeping man, and he demanded an explanation of the strange proceedings. The strange visitor, with tears in his eyes, cried out: "Why, Tom, I am your long-lost father; you was but four years old when I saw you last." He then proceeded to make minute statements, and Mr. Anderson was convinced that he was now face to face with his own father, who it was
